1. Introduction

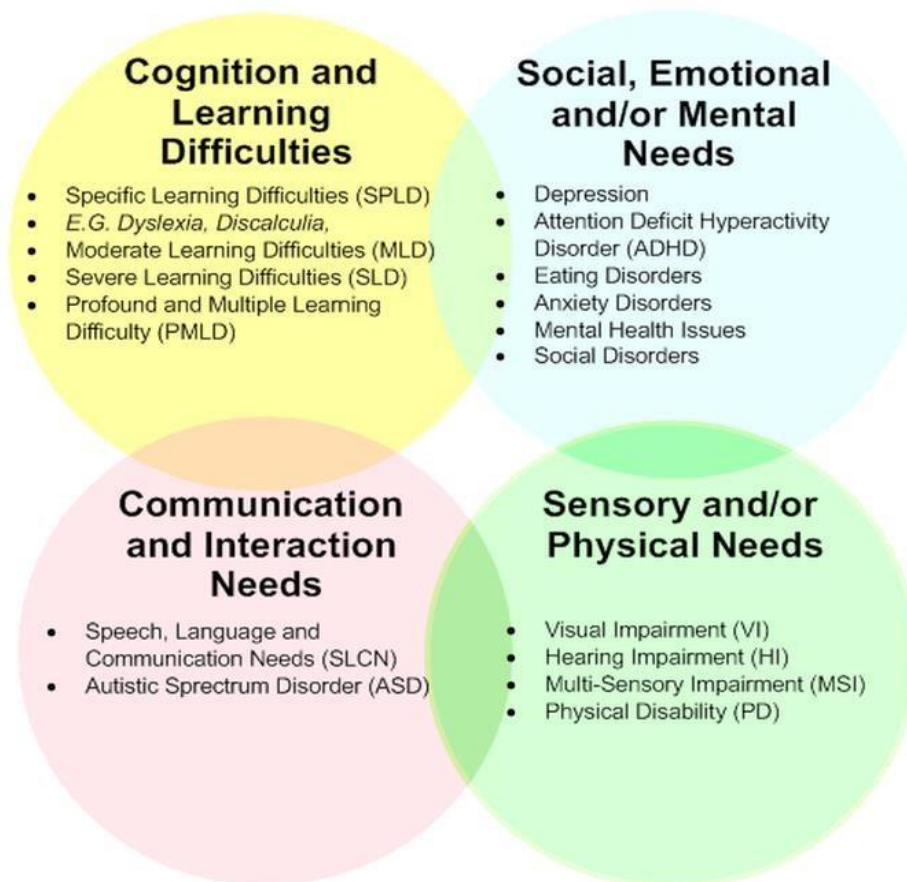

Southport Learning Trust is an inclusive Trust. Every child has an entitlement to the full curriculum appropriately differentiated and adapted to meet their individual needs. The Trust is committed to listening to learners and working in positive partnership with Parents/ Carers and other professionals.

Definition of the term “Special Educational Needs and Disabilities” (SEND)

“A child whose needs are significantly greater than those of their peers thus requiring special provision to be made for him or her”.

Nationally, approximately 14-15% of learners have SEND. Most of these pupils are well placed in mainstream provision with a small minority, around 1%, requiring very specialist provision provided in a special school or setting.

There are 4 recognised ‘Broad Areas of Need’ but these can be multiple and overlapping:

Parents/ Carers

As a Trust, we aim to create positive and effective partnerships with all our Parents/ Carers and Advocates.

For learners who have SEND, we feel this relationship is crucial because a child's educational progress will be most effective if there is parental involvement in the education process and full support at home. Parents/ Carers and Advocates should be fully involved in the School based response for their child, understand the purpose of any intervention or programme of action, and be advised of any relevant partnership services when SEND are identified. Schools must tell Parents/ Carers when they first identify that a child has SEND.

The Trust is committed to supporting families and recognises that:

- Parents/ Carers are a child's first educators and their influence is valued
- Development can be enhanced by close co-operation between home and school
- Parents/ Carers have a unique view of their child

- Parents/ Carers have statutory rights regarding information about their child's progress and achievements
- Parents/ Carers' different lifestyles and cultures must always be respected.

Trust Schools aim to develop a supportive partnership with Parents/ Carers by:

- Informing them sensitively of any concerns as soon as possible and taking account of their feelings and wishes
- Including them in any assessment undertaken with the child, so that any knowledge can be part of the assessment
- Helping them to support with any work that is taken home
- Working with them on strategies that may reinforce work being done at school
- Keeping them informed about their learner's educational progress and other concerns.

Parents/ Carers also have a responsibility to communicate with the School to support their child's education. When working in partnership they should:

- Communicate regularly with the school to alert them to any concerns they have about their learner or Trust provision;
- Fulfil their obligations under the Home School Agreements which set out expectations of both sides.

The Trust philosophy is to work closely with families to ensure the best possible provision for the learner. However, should there be a complaint about the service, the procedures are explained in the individual School websites.

Learners

The Trust considers that any educational progress needs a three-way partnership to be effective. This involves:

- The Academy/ College (do we have any colleges?)
- The Parents/ Carers
- The learners

We aim to positively involve the learners in their learning process by:

- Listening to their views and opinions about their learning
- Discussing the purpose of the assessments and learning programmes
- Encouraging them to participate, and make decisions about the provision for their learning, making them take more responsibility for both their learning and their progress

We believe that these conditions will help improve learners' self-esteem and confidence.

Supporting Learners with SEND

All learners should be involved in making decisions where possible about their education. The ways in which learners are encouraged to participate should reflect their evolving maturity.

The main objective for our learners is to provide maximum access to the curriculum. We hope to achieve this by:

- Identifying learners who are experiencing difficulties as early as possible;
- Acknowledging the positive when assessing needs;

- Developing, with support as required from external agencies and internal Trust experts, a prescriptive and individual SEND support plan reflecting the required provision as detailed in the EHCP where relevant.
- Setting ambitious and challenging objectives for the short, medium and long term
- Ensuring objectives are holistic
- Opportunities for Pupil Voice.

4. Assessment

All learners are regularly assessed against age related expectation for their key stage. This process may identify learners who are not making expected progress. This may be the starting point for a SEND assessment although teachers will consider all factors which may be impacting on learner progress.

For learners with an identified SEND, the age-related expectation may require further task analysis to ensure that children can achieve the individual building blocks that lead to knowledge acquisition. These small steps enable staff to structure the child's work and provide a series of intermediate goals which should be recorded.

Learners will be involved in assessment and decision-making. As part of this process Schools need to:-

- Explain clearly what additional support or assessment arrangements are being made, and how the learner can contribute to them;
- Help the learner to understand the agreed outcomes of any intervention and how they can be a partner in working towards their goal;
- Recognise the potential stress of assessment and review arrangements and support the learner to understand the role of the other professionals.

5. Identification

The Trust is committed to the early identification of SEND and SENDCos work closely with class teachers to upskill them in identification and to provide assessment materials to support this process.

6. Monitoring – The ‘Assess, Plan, Do, Review’ Approach

All Trust schools adopt the ‘Assess, Plan, Do, Review’ Approach as identified in the Code of Practice. Parents and learners are engaged at all stages.

Following identification the first stage of support will always be High Quality Teaching and Learning ensuring the child remains in class with peers and accesses differentiated work or supportive structures and routines.

Reviews will be carried out termly as part of the Assess, Plan, Do Review cycle.

Pupils requiring a more targeted approach, where provision is additional to or different from that of their peers, are identified as requiring SEND support; nationally this is approximately 12% of all learners. (It says 14% on first page is that different?)

If the decision to invite outside agency support is agreed upon, then the SENDCo will contact the relevant external agency and record outcomes. At each stage a record of the reviews will be kept in the Academy. If it is thought necessary for the child to see an Educational Psychologist, the SENDCo, in consultation with the Parents/ Carers, the relevant external agencies and the Headteacher, will be involved.

Any decision to progress to statutory assessment will require written evidence of the work undertaken at academy level and the engagement of Trust SEND expertise. The School will endeavour to keep Parents/ Carers and learners fully involved as equal partners throughout the process.

The SENDCo will organise Annual Reviews of all EHCPs, drawing on Parents/ Carers/ Advocates, learners and all appropriate agencies for their contributions about the child's progress.

7. Providing for Special Needs for each part of the curriculum

It is the responsibility of every teacher to work alongside each Subject Leader or Faculty Leader, to ensure that provision and access to the curriculum is made in each subject. It may also be necessary to discuss such aspects, as resources, differentiation etc.

8. Pedagogy

Learners learn best when they feel valued and their achievements are recognised. Within the class there will be a wide range of ability and experience. This calls for a flexible approach, in order to provide success and a challenge for all learners.

A variety of teaching strategies and styles will be used in order to alleviate some of the difficulties that some learners face, and ensure that all learners have access to the different areas of the curriculum.

Staff recognise that all learners have individual learning styles and will respond differently to diverse teaching styles. They will endeavour to ensure that their main input varies between aural, kinaesthetic, and visual teaching styles.

All teachers across the Trust are trained in High Quality Teaching and Learning and, where appropriate, specialist pedagogy to meet pupil need.

9. Learning Environment

The Trust strives to offer all our learners enabling learning environments. Teachers and leaders are responsible for ensuring that all learning environments are:

- Physically accessible for learners with diverse needs
- Well-resourced with appropriately adapted tools and resources, including ICT
- Emotionally supportive with an atmosphere of encouragement, acceptance, respect and sensitivity to individual needs
- Promoting of independence and the establishment of strong and supportive routines

10. Transition

Transitions can be challenging for all learners and particularly those with SEND. The SENDCo will liaise with feeder provision and destination organisations to ensure effective and efficient transfer of information. Schools will support all learners with SEND to make their transitions as smooth as possible.

11. Working with external agencies

The Trust values partnership working and is outward facing both offering and receiving support from other agencies. All Trust staff will work with other agencies in a spirit of common purpose and mutual respect.

The class teacher will be responsible for ensuring all specialist advice is implemented throughout the learner's day.

12. Staff Development

In order to develop staff awareness and expertise in the area of SEND, the Trust supports SENDCos to develop appropriate training for staff in their school and Trust wide and offers training for all SENDCos as well as membership of the Trust's SENDCo Group.
